

MOTOR BOAT MAKES FINAL DASH TO-DAY IN RACE WITH TRAIN

Reception Awaits Gar II. Jr.,
Reported Half Hour Ahead
on Running Time Basis.

A reception has been arranged by the Columbia Yacht Club for the arrival to-day at 86th Street and North River of the motorboat Gar II. Jr., which is trying to beat the time of the Havana Special of the Atlantic Coast Line from Miami, Fla. As the race is to be decided on actual running time, the winner will not be known until the speedboat reaches New York.

The Gar II. Jr., in command of Garfield A. Wood of Detroit, reached Morehead City, N. C., at 6.54 last night, having covered 785 miles in 23 hours. The train reached the Pennsylvania Station here last night only three minutes late on the run from Miami, its total time being 43 hours and 23 minutes.

The speedboat was to anchor 100 miles from Morehead City last night and resume at daybreak. It was in good condition and, its owner calculated, was half an hour ahead in the race. He expects to make the run from Norfolk to-day without stop, reaching New York early this evening.

WED BEFORE, SAYS MRS. FLAGLER NOW

Third Wife of Capitalist Admits
Previous Marriage to His Employee After Denial.

After earlier denials of Mr. Flagler, Mrs. John H. Flagler, third wife of the seventy-year-old steel capitalist, has admitted she had been previously married. Her first husband, James Divisich Jr., works for the New York Telephone Company and was employed by Mr. Flagler when he married Beatrice Frances Wencker, the present Mrs. Flagler.

"It's true and that's all," said Mrs. Flagler. "If you married a poor man nobody would know you were on earth. Marry a rich man and they won't leave a stone unturned," she added. "There is really nothing to hide," she said. "Mr. Flagler was a friend of my father. We lived in Brooklyn and I met Mr. Flagler through my father when I was really a little girl."

Earlier in the day Mr. Flagler had denied his wife's first marriage, saying if there had been one he would have heard about it, but Mrs. Flagler said last night he knew all about it.

Restraint of Line Gives Elegance to Women's Silk Frocks

$55

AN ingenious bit of designing has attained in these models just the elegance that women desire in dark silk frocks. Embroidered Georgette flanks the side of the frock, left, leaving the front and back panels of black satin. While crepe silk co-relates five rows of fringe and white lace about the neck, in such a way as to give great beauty of line to the frock, right. Georgette, embroidered with iridescent beads, veils the blouse and forms the over-drape of another happily inspired frock of this collection.

Colors: Black, blue, and brown.
